Smith Chosen For Show House

Philip H. Smith, associate member of the American Society of Interior Designers and owner of Creation Antiques and Interiors in Cohasset Village, has been chosen again by the Junior League of Boston to participate in its Show House. This major fund raising activity of the league will be at the Forbes Estate in Milton.

This exquisite home will be completely rejuvenated from first to third floors by 50 of the most talented and celebrated designers in the Boston area. It will be open to the public April 29 to May 20.

Funds raised will be used to continue community activities. All designers involved donate their time and talent and furnish and decorate rooms at their own expense. Last year over 25,000 people toured Show House.

Smith designed the library in the 1976 Show House, also in Milton. That room has since been published in House Beautiful's 'Home Decorating' twice and is to be published in an upcoming book published by the Smithsonian Institution featuring rooms that use oriental carpets. Last year's Show House contribution was the third floor party room at Brookline's Stone Webster Estate. The party room featured a built in suana and disco dance floor.

Smith and his associates Verna Dalton and Laine Axelson have designed a Butler's Pantry for this year's Show House. The room will emphasize the importance of multi-purpose areas in a home. The area will serve as a wine cellar, bar and most importantly as a storage area for fine china, linen, crystal and other appointments befitting a home of such stature.

Smith has served as president of the Rotary Club and is past chairman of the South Shore Council of Rotary Clubs. He established his design business in Cohasset in 1968. Along with professional design service, Creation offers a retail fabric, carpet (broadloom, novelty and orientals) and wallpaper showroom. Fine furnishings and accessories are also to be seen along with antique pieces.

Tickets for this year's Show House will be $4 in advance and $5 at the door.

Police Have Unclaimed Loot Worth $15,000

Approximately $15,000 worth of unclaimed merchandise, a portion of the loot recovered by the Cohasset Police Department last February, remains at the police station.

Since police apprehended the duo Gildea and Ostravage, who holed up a quarter of a million dollars worth of stolen goods in the Margin St. apartment, over $200,000 worth of stolen items have been reclaimed by 31 people.

Officer Paul Laugelle, the patrolman largely credited for cracking the case, said last week that residents of Scituate, Hingham, Randolph, Canton, Norwell, Boston, Quincy, Natick, Milton and Marshfield have had items returned to them.

Still unclaimed are an array of Oriental rugs, two Sony television sets, a New Haven clock, a hand-carved chess set, an assortment of clothes and jewelry, and a miniature cannon used to start yacht races. The public is invited to examine the merchandise to determine if personal items may have been included in the recovery.

Kevin Gildea is presently incarcerated at Charles St. Jail in Boston in lieu of $100,000 bail. Linda Ostravage is confined to Framingham House of Correction in lieu of $50,000 bail. Both have received grand jury indictments on five counts of breaking and entering and one count of receiving stolen property and are awaiting trial.

Fashion Show Today

A fashion show on Thursday, March 29 at 8 p.m. at the Plymouth River School in Hingham will feature 18 exclusive designs from Cards & Shards. Modeling will be Sue Straley, Nancy Pottenger and Libby Wood. Designer Jerre will give a commentary on her fashions and fabrics.

Cards & Shards, the South Main shop newly owned by Sue and Dick Straley, is always a visual delight. One rarely leaves empty-handed.
